

Travel students at Yeovil College receive offers abroad

Travel and Tourism students receive job offers in Sardinia and Croatia.

Jess-Aimee Richardson, 19, from Yeovil, a former student from Huish Episcopi has accepted a job post to be a Sport Activity Leader on Kolocep Island in Croatia with Thomson travel agency. Jess-Aimee's role includes planning and organising adult trips at the Kalamota resort.

Jess-Aimee said, "I'm glad I've grasped this opportunity, this is a job I've always wanted to do – my dream job!"

Luca Lepuri, 20, from Italy, a former student from Huish Episcopi has accepted an offer to be a Customer Service Officer in Sardinia with Mark Warner. Luca's role will include being a translator in the local hospital using his first language, Italian.

Luca said, "I'm looking forward to this job post, it will help me to eventually work in a Head Office of a Travel company."

Both students studied Level 3 Travel and Tourism at Yeovil College.

Kathy Potts, lecturer said "These are two outstanding students who have consistently demonstrated the skills and qualities needed to work in the Travel & Tourism Industry. Jess-Aimee and Luca are both about to start their careers working abroad in Croatia and Sardinia and we will certainly miss them from the group over the coming weeks. They have been a pleasure to have in the group and we certainly won't forget them."

Both students are working hard in order to complete their study programme in the next 2 weeks before they travel to their job placements.
