

Yeovil College Business learners contribute to Lords Larder

Business learners at Yeovil College have supported The Lord's Larder project by creating care boxes which they have filled with toiletries, non-perishable goods and children's toys. The learners have created over 40 boxes, with each one containing goods worth around £20.

Ellie Gillard, 16, formerly of Beaminster School, said, "I have really enjoyed working on my care box for the Community Challenge. It feels good to know that our collective donations may help the local community."

Carey Bastin, Business Lecturer at Yeovil College, said, "I loved organising this year's Community Challenge. The Business students have all worked very hard designing and filling their individual boxes. We are looking forward to the boxes going to The Lord's Larder as they work with so many organisations which benefit and support our local community."

The Lord's Larder Food Bank is a local 'bank' of non-perishable food operated by volunteers from churches in and around Yeovil.
